Applicability; Additional terms

Please note: Our Services may contain links to other websites, whether they be reference materials, blogs, integrated wellness partners or otherwise. Additionally, other users may post links or references to other websites. Please be aware that we are not responsible for the privacy practices of other websites, regardless of whether or not the link was posted on or using our Service. Neither Welltok, nor its community managers or partners, monitor the content, safety or suitability of such external websites. As such, this Privacy Policy only applies to information collected by us on this Site. We do not control and are not responsible for any use of your personal information by or through any third party sites. By linking to another website, you assume the risk that information you provide on that website may be viewed and or used by third parties. When visiting any website, it is in your best interest to review that site's privacy policy before providing any personal information.

When you sign up to use certain features of this Service, or as part of a group/family/corporate plan, you may be asked to agree to special terms governing your use of our Service, or specific features. In such cases, you may be asked to expressly consent to the special terms, for example, by checking a box or clicking on a button marked "I agree" in order to activate a particular service and grant us permission to collect data (including when a user connects a Supported Device, as defined below.) This type of agreement is known as a "click-through" agreement. If any of the terms of the click-through agreement are different than the terms of this Privacy Policy, the terms of the click-through agreement will supplement or amend this Privacy Policy, but only with respect to the matters governed by the "click-through agreement."

Some of the Personal Data you provide through our Service may be Protected Health Information ("PHI") protected under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA"). Welltok is not a "covered entity" under HIPAA, however, as defined by HIPAA, we may be a "business associate" of an entity from whom we receive your information. For example, we may perform certain services for employers who provide self-funded health plans for their employees or for health insurance companies sponsoring your access to the Site. In instances where Welltok is a business associate or handling your PHI (and therefore subject to HIPAA requirements) we will comply with the requirements of HIPAA applicable to your data and any terms of the business associate agreement between Welltok and the applicable customer. In the event of a conflict between this Privacy Policy and a business associate agreement which covers your Personal Data, the business associate agreement will control.

Information we collect and how we use it

We may collect personal and other information about you when you use our Service, as described below. "Personal Data" is information which can be used to distinguish or trace an individual's identity, such as their name, a federal or state ID number, email address, etc. whether used alone, or when combined with other personal or identifying information which is linked or linkable to a specific individual.

We typically collect Personal Data and other data from you, and use that information in the following ways and as otherwise set forth in this Privacy Policy or otherwise communicated to you from time to time:

- As a registered user of our Service(s): We collect personal information during the account creation process such as your name, date of birth, email address, and information such as city, state, zip code, country, and certain information about your health, activities, and other interests. We may also collect the Personal Data you provide if you register for certain programs (such as participating in biometric screenings, health assessments, challenges or contests, joining sponsored communities, engaging with a coach or other programs available on the Services). For example, if you ask us to furnish you with certain products or services—such as a pedometer in connection with an activity challenge or incentive—fulfillment of your request may require additional Personal Data. From time to time or through your use of other features of our Service, we may collect additional information you provide about your health, interests and goals, and link such information to other Personal Data we hold about you.

Information you provide assists us in managing and maintaining the Service and its content, and helps us personalize your use of the Service. Additionally, the collection of Personal Data enables us to communicate with you and also allows us to comply with applicable laws, rules or regulations, as well as the Terms of Use applicable to this Service. If you joined us as a result of a formal sponsorship from your health plan, employer or other third party affiliation, we may provide them with your name, email address or other Personal Data as required to verify your participation on the Service.

- When you connect a fitness device: When you choose to connect a wearable fitness device, such as FitBit[®], we will collect the information provided by that third-party device (we may refer to all such information, regardless of platform, as “Wearables Data” and we refer to each device as a “Supported Device”). When you sync your Wearables Data or a Supported Device, we collect and use the information you choose to share using that Supported Device’s sync functionality or API. As the specific data comprising Wearables Data may vary depending on the device and/or APIs, you should review the documentation for your device and any permissions it requests before agreeing to provide Welltok with Wearables Data. We primarily use Wearables Data to log your achievements, track and analyze the activity and health habits of you, your colleagues, friends, and other users, and as necessary to administer our Service or certain features and Promotions. Please refer to any Supported Device documentation for details on any additional information the third-party manufacturer may collect or share. You may choose to link a Supported Device as part of your use of our Service. To disconnect a Supported Device, and stop providing Wearables Data to Welltok, you may modify your account settings through the links available on our Service.

Challenges, contests, sweepstakes & promotions: We may operate challenges, contests, sweepstakes or other promotions (each, a “Promotion”) through our Service, which may require registration on our Service in order to enter. Your participation in a Promotion confirms your authorization of Welltok to collect and disclose any Personal Data that may be required by the sponsor to support your participation in the Promotion. We may track additional health and wellness achievements as part of a Promotion, and, because you have elected to participate in the Promotion, certain information about your health or wellness may be made available to an organization with which you are affiliated.

Your personal information may be used by us to contact you for winner notification, or prize delivery confirmation. If you participate in a Promotion, your acceptance of a prize or incentive may require you (unless prohibited by law) to allow us to post publicly some of your Personal Data on our Service or elsewhere, such as on a winner’s page. In some instances a sponsor may operate or host a Promotion on the Service together with us, and collect your information.

- If you sign up for our newsletters or emails or other communications: We may offer newsletters and other communications that provide information about our products, developments, research, and other matters. By providing your email address and any other Personal Data required by the online form, or by registering on the Site, you consent to our collection of this information and to receive these communications from us. We use this information primarily to administer and manage our newsletter subscriptions and to provide you with additional communications, offers, or newsletters we believe will interest you, or that you have consented to receive. You may receive emails from partners or other third party organizations directly associated with your use of the Services. Please contact those third parties for information on how to unsubscribe from third-party communications.

- If you contact us through our Service: You may contact us, using a form or feature available on our Service (such as live chat or help desk) or via email with questions about our Service or other matters. If you contact us through our Service, we will collect the Personal Data you voluntarily provide on the applicable form (typically your name, email address and phone number) or otherwise. Any information you provide through our Service will be used in the context of resolving your request or answering your inquiry, or to provide additional information related to that inquiry, and we may place you on our contact list for information related to your inquiry or other service that we provide.

- Information sent to us by your web browser: We collect information that is sent to us automatically by your browser. This information typically includes your IP address, the identity of your Internet service provider, the name and version of your operating system, the name and version of your browser, the date and time of your visit, and the pages you visit. Please check your browser if you want to learn what information your browser sends or how to change your settings.

An "IP address" is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer when you connect to the Internet. It is used to identify your computer's "location" on the internet so that the information you request can be delivered to you. If you use a connection that assigns dynamic IP addresses, your computer will be assigned a new IP address each time you connect to the Internet. If, however, your computer is permanently connected to the Internet using a static IP address, the IP address assigned to your computer will generally be the same each time you use your computer.

We may also provide your IP address to our third-party service providers who can use it to identify your state and zip code. This gives us valuable demographic information about the individuals who use our Service. In addition, if, we suspect fraud or a threat to the security of our Service, we may share our server logs—which contain users' IP addresses—with the appropriate investigative authorities, who could use that information to trace and identify individuals.

- Cookies and similar technologies: Our Service may use cookies, web beacons and similar digital tracking technologies. Cookies are small data files that are transferred to your hard drive when your browser settings permit the acceptance of cookies. Similar technologies, such as web beacons or pixel tags function through the use of small files, such as a GIF or PNG, which are opened on a page, ad, or in an email. The request for these files from a server reveals certain information, such as your browser type, IP address, and other information. To learn more about cookies and similar tracking technologies, and how they can affect your privacy, visit allaboutcookies.org.

Our Service may use cookies or other technologies provided by website analytics services such as Google Analytics to help us better understand how our Service is used. By tracking how and when you use our Service, these technologies help us determine which features and content on our Service is most important to our visitors. If you do not want information collected through the use of cookies, you can turn off cookies using your browser's settings menu; however, this may eliminate our ability to provide a personalized or user-friendly experience. To learn more about, or to opt-out of Google's analytic and marketing services, visit Google Analytics Terms of Use, the Google Privacy Policy, or Google Analytics Opt-out.

Please note, most modern browsers include a "do not track" feature that may help protect your privacy. Our Service does not respond to your browser's do-not-track request at this time.

As described in a privacy notice or click-through agreement: We reserve the right to collect and use your Personal Data as described in any supplemental privacy notice posted and where you provide personal information, or as provided in any "click-through" agreement between you and us.

Information sharing & disclosure

Public information: Some of the information you provide when you register will be visible to other people using the Service. Users may control some profile fields which other users or sponsors can see by adjusting the privacy settings available on your account management page if available on the specific Site. Further, our Service may provide users the ability to communicate with each other, wellness coaches and health care professionals through the use of community forums and other public areas, which allow users to create and share content on the Service. Accordingly, you should have no expectation of privacy in the information you post to the public areas of the Service.

Private messaging: If you choose to communicate directly with other users through our Service, those users may be able to view certain Personal Data related to your account, such as your user name and any information that you chose to post/share on the Service. Likewise, if you send an email to a user or invite a non-user to join our Service, we will provide your name and your email address to the intended recipient. In addition, by registering for our Service, you consent to receive regular communications from us, as well as the organization that sponsored your use of our Service.

Promotion sponsors & partners: Users may have the ability to participate in Promotions, as described above. If you elect to participate in a contest being sponsored by your employer or other third party such as your health insurance plan or health care provider, we will communicate your information to them as needed to confirm your participation, as well as your achievement of any milestone that applies to that contest (such as walking a certain distance each day).

By participating in a particular Promotion you agree to allow us to share Personal Data with relevant sponsors, partners, and service providers. Do not participate in Promotions if you do not want us to share your Personal Data or User Content, as described in the Terms of Use.

Employers, third party wellness providers, and program sponsors: If you use our Service through a formal sponsorship from your health insurance plan, employer, third party program sponsor, or other third party such as your health care provider, we may provide them with your name, email address or other Personal Data as required to verify or administer your participation. We may also disclose your relevant Personal Data to third parties who have been engaged on your behalf to provide disease management, health management, behavioral coaching, or similar wellness-related services ("Third Party Wellness Providers"), subject to contractual restrictions and conditions between us and the Third Party Wellness Providers that obligate them to safeguard your Personal Data. These Third Party Wellness Providers may contact you to offer their services in support of your health management goals. These Third Party Wellness Providers are separate and distinct entities from Welltok. If you agree to accept the services offered by a Third Party Wellness Provider, such agreement is solely between you and the Third Party Wellness Provider, we are not responsible for the privacy practices or services of the Third Party Wellness Providers.

HIPAA covered entities and your PHI: We may disclose your Personal Data and/or PHI to entities subject to HIPAA ("covered entities" or "business associates"). Covered entities include, for example, health care providers such as doctors and dentists. Covered entities are also health plans, insurance providers, and may include health plans sponsored by your employer and which may be administered by other employees of your employer. Business associates include third parties that require access to PHI to perform part of the Service. In the United States, these entities are subject to HIPAA and HIPAA requires covered entities to safeguard your Personal Data in accordance with all applicable state and federal laws and regulations. We disclose your PHI only in accordance with HIPAA and with your express opt-in consent.

Within the Welltok family of businesses: We may share personal information within the Welltok family of businesses. Each of the Welltok family of businesses will use and share your personal information only as set forth in this Privacy Policy and in accordance with applicable law.

Aggregate Information: We may provide third parties, including covered entities, health plans, employers or others, with information about you and other users from which we have removed all identifiers and that can no longer be used to identify you ("Aggregate Information"). For example, we might inform third parties regarding the number of users of our Service and the features they used or Promotions they entered when using our Service. We may not limit the third parties' use of the Aggregate

Information, except that we require third parties to whom we disclose Aggregate Information to agree that they will not attempt to make this information personally identifiable by combining it with other databases.

Third-party vendors: We may, without your consent, share Personal Data collected through our Service with third-party vendors who act for or on our behalf in providing the Service. These third-party vendors may need information about you to perform their functions. In cases of onward transfer to third parties of Personal Data of EU individuals received pursuant to the EU-US Privacy Shield, Welltok is potentially liable.

Business transfers: Your Personal Data may be transferred to a successor organization if, for example, we transfer the ownership or operation of our Service to another organization or if we merge with another organization. If such a transfer occurs, the successor organization's use of your Personal Data will still be subject to this Privacy Policy and the privacy preferences you have expressed to us.

Compliance with laws and protection of our rights and the rights of others: We may disclose your Personal Data when we, in good faith, believe disclosure is appropriate to comply with the law, a court order or a subpoena. We may also disclose your Personal Data to prevent or investigate a possible crime, such as fraud or identity theft; to protect the security of our Service; to enforce or apply our online Terms of Use or other agreements; or to protect our own rights or property or the rights, property or safety of our users or others. We also may be required to disclose an individual's personal information in response to a lawful request by public authorities, including to meet national security or law enforcement requirements.

As described in a privacy notice or click-through agreement: We reserve the right to disclose your Personal Data as described in any privacy notice or click-through agreement posted on a page of our Service where you provide that information. By providing your Personal Data on that page you will be consenting to the disclosure of your Personal Data as described in that privacy notice.

Your Choices

In general: We respect your right to make choices about the ways we collect, use and disclose your Personal Data. Discussed above are choices you have about delivery of cookies to your computer through our Service. In addition, we will sometimes ask you to indicate your choices at the time we collect your Personal Data. For example, we provide you with an opportunity to "opt in" or "opt out" of receiving certain communications from us. In addition, we will include an "unsubscribe" link in each electronic newsletter or promotional e-mail we send you, so that you can inform us that you do not wish to receive such communications from us in the future. Please note, if you do not wish for us to provide certain information to one or more of our commercial service providers, you may not use the Service.

Previously expressed preferences: You may change previously expressed preferences regarding how we use your Personal Data. If at any time you wish to be taken off our mailing lists, please contact us. Please provide your full name, postal address and e-mail address so that we can find you on our mailing lists. Once we have the information we need, we will remove you from our mailing lists as you have requested.

We may ask you for additional information to verify your identity. We may limit or deny your request if the law permits or requires us to do so or if we are unable to verify your identify.

You may have limited rights to edit or remove any content that you post, share or otherwise distribute on our Service that includes your Personal Data, depending on the specific portion of the Service on which it is posted. Note: If you delete your content or remove your content from the view of others, such information may still be stored on other databases, specifically, including those kept for archival purposes. While we honor your request to remove any of your User Content (as described in the Terms of Use), any content that was previously shared with a sponsor or other third party at your consent will be subject to their own privacy policies and user agreements and cannot be deleted or removed by us. We will not endeavor to retrieve deleted content in order to erase it from our archives. Users should be aware that any user-generated content that you post may have been republished or distributed prior to deletion and may remain publicly available on another portion of the Service.

If you are a California resident, California Civil Code Section 1798.83 permits you to request information regarding the disclosure of your Personal Data to others for direct marketing purposes during the preceding calendar year (if any). Some of our Services may be directed at children. As part of these child-directed services, we may collect your child's name and email address, birthdate, gender, age, and other health interest or wellness-related information. Parents should be aware that our Service may include features that allow children to post certain health-related information on their profile page. By default, a child may only share information with the parent(s) or guardian(s) who set up the child's account. We may, however, publicize a child's screen name and accomplishments on our physical activity leaderboard.

Note, our Service may monitor physical activity when your child uses a wearable fitness device, and may collect information continuously, or in the background. Please be aware of any privacy policies of any third party products, sites and services before allowing your child to use them.

Our various Services may require different methods of consent due to their unique features, and we will notify you accordingly when you register your child for one of our Services. We may contact parents and guardians using the information provided in the applicable sign up form to obtain this consent. We use that information only to provide services directly related to our Service or the particular program, such as sending your child special offers, news, team updates or other appropriate information.

You may choose to review, delete or prohibit our further use of your child's Personal Data at any time. Further, you may revoke any consent you have previously provided. To do so, simply submit a request to us using the contact information below.

Except when collection is expressly allowed under COPPA or if the information has been provided by a parent (e.g. a parent registering their child for one of our programs), we will promptly delete any Personal Data we possess about children under the age of 13. If you believe we have inadvertently collected information outside these contexts, please contact us at the address below.
